

Dinner Time

It was cold and dark in the house. The robber ....01..... on the light and looked around the entrance hall. He was very young, a boy ....02..... than a man, and not a bad boy, just someone who ....03..... money. He was looking ....04..... cash or something he could ....05..... quickly to get cash. He walked ....06..... round the house, checking ....07..... room, one by one. He ....08..... the people that lived in the house weren't ....09..... . He had watched the house for ....10..... days to make sure. Perhaps they had gone ....11..... holiday to Spain to escape from the freezing English winter. When he got to the kitchen he found ....12..... food in the fridge. He was really ....13..... and ate ....14..... all quickly and silently. Then he decided ....15..... go upstairs. Outside the first bedroom he stopped and ....16..... . Nothing. He opened the door. The room was ....17..... He moved towards the second bedroom, still ....18..... not to make any noise. He went into the room, closing the door ....19..... him. The light didn't work. Darkness. Suddenly someone or something jumped on him. Terrified, he tried to shout for help, but it was ....20..... late. The rest was shock, a desperate fight for survival, teeth like razor-blades, terror, blood, his blood, agony and death.
