If you're looking for a really relaxing weekend, why don't you go to Lisbon? It's one of the most beautiful and romantic cities to visit, and the good news is you don't have to spend a fortune to get there. Lisbon is cheaper than Paris and London and it may be the cheapest city in Europe. 1. _____

So, where you should stay in Lisbon? Well, there are many different types of accommodation and it's easy to find, except in August when it's normally crowded. If you don't want to spend too much, there are small hostels which are cheap and clean but quiet basic. If you are looking for something more comfortable then maybe you should try one of the more bigger hotels, although this can be expensive. 6. _____

And what about getting around in the city? Well, despite the hills, Lisbon is a good city for walking, but you must take a pair of comfortable shoes and make sure you've got a good map of the city. Public transport is reliable and cheap – even the taxis aren't expensive but they are not recommended for the nervous! A Portuguese taxi driver drives – well, let's say – very fastly. But really the best way to see Lisbon is to do what the Portuguese do and take a tram and the best tram ride of all is the number twenty-eight. I strongly recommend. 13. _____

There are lots of interesting places to visit at Lisbon, but if you're only going for a weekend, there are two things you really have to see, the castle and the Expo site. If you enjoy shopping, you'll find old traditional shops but also fashionable new clothes shops in the 'Baixa' area, and if you want a typical souvenir, don't forget to buy a bottle of port. Well, that's all the time we've got to tell you about the enchanting city of Lisbon. Next week, we'll be telling you all you need to know about the Venice of the North, the marvelous city of Amsterdam..... 22. _____
