

Fundamentals of Public International Law

A Sketch of the International Legal Order

By

Giovanni Distefano

BRILL
NIJHOFF

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Contents

Preface	XI
Abbreviations	XVI
Table of Cases	XIX

Prolegomena: The Structure and Characteristics of the International Legal Order 1

A	Public International Law as a Scientific Discipline and as a Legal Order: An Attempt to Clarification	2
B	Main Structural Features of the Contemporary International Legal Order	13
C	The Alleged Fragmentation of PIL: The Concept of a Legal System and the Legal Pluralism	22
D	Theoretical Quest for the Legal Foundation of PIL: The Painful Transition to a Sophisticated PIL	30

PART 1

Subjects of International Law

1	Legal Personality	51
1	The Notion of Legal Personality	51
2	The Traditional Conception of International Personality or Its Extensive Definition	52
3	Scope and Legal Capacity	55
4	Immediacy, Pledge of Independence	57
5	International Personality Is Necessarily Erga omnes	59
6	The Three Constitutive Capacities of International Legal Personality: The Restrictive Conception of International Legal Personality	60
7	Secondary Rules and International Legal Personality	68
8	Epilogue: Variations on the "State" Theme or the Quasi-State Species ("Gradation")	70
2	The Sovereign State as the Primary and Original Subject of PIL	74
1	The Creation of State as an Historical Process and Its Empirical Ascertainment	74
2	How Does PIL Grasp the Creation of a State?	75

3	Statehood and the Principle of Effectiveness	76
4	Constitutive Elements of a State According to Contemporary PIL Rules	89
5	Territorial Sovereignty	133
6	Special Territorial Situations	138
7	Creation and Extinction of Territorial Titles	146
8	Various Forms of Territorial Changes and State Succession	154
9	Recognition and Effectiveness: An Odd (and Old) Couple	164
10	Right of Peoples to Self-Determination	185
11	Other Kinds of State-Related and sui generis Persons of PIL	215

PART 2

The System of Sources of PIL

	Preliminary Remarks: The Ingredients of the Normative System	237
3	Article 38 of the ICJ Statute: The Substantive Constitution of the International Legal Order in Respect of Sources	244
1	Structure and Operative Scope	246
2	International and Domestic Law	276
3	Paragraph 2 of Art 38: Equity	292
4	“Soft Law”: An Undetermined and Overrated Concept	295
4	Customary International Law and Its Codification	299
1	General and Preliminary Remarks	299
2	Theories on Custom as a Source of PIL	306
3	The Two-Element Theory	318
4	Who and Where to Look for Customary International Law Rules: Power and Effects of the Determination and Interpretation of General International Law	339
5	Persistent Objector	356
6	Evolution (Change) of Customary International Law	365
7	Codification of Customary International Law	369
5	International Treaty	393
1	General and Prefatory Remarks	393
2	The Physiology of the International Treaty	407
3	Application of Treaties	441
4	Interpretation of Treaties	461
5	The Pathology of International Treaties	503

6	Forgotten, Minor and Hidden Sources	559
1	The Minor Source: General Principles of Law	559
2	Forgotten Sources: Unilateral Acts	579
3	Hidden Sources	598
4	Martens' Clause: Elementary Considerations of Humanity		620

PART 3

Non-coercive Guarantees

7	State Responsibility for Internationally Wrongful Acts	637
1	Introductory Remarks	637
2	The Birth of International Responsibility of a State: The Unitary Structure of IWA	651
8	Peaceful Settlement of International Disputes	806
1	"International Dispute": Meaning and Scope	806
2	Main Principles	809
3	Main Types of Means of Peaceful Settlement: General Observations	819
4	Political and Diplomatic Means of Dispute Settlement		820
5	Judicial Modes of Dispute Settlement	839
6	International Court of Justice: Recourse to Judicial Settlement stricto sensu	869
	Subject Index	949	