

Institutionalisation of Political Parties

Comparative Cases

Edited by Robert Harmel
and Lars G. Svåsand

ecpr PRESS

ROWMAN &
LITTLEFIELD
— INTERNATIONAL

London • New York

Contents

List of Abbreviations	ix
List of Tables	xiii
List of Figures	xv
List of Appendices	xvii
Preface and Acknowledgements	xix
1 Introduction	1
Robert Harmel and Lars G. Svåsand
2 Party Institutionalisation: Concepts and Indicators	9
Robert Harmel, Lars G. Svåsand and Hilmar Mjelde
3 The Institutionalisation of New Parties in Greece: (How) Does it Matter for Success?	25
Zoe Lefkofridi and Kristina Weissenbach
4 The Role of Leader in the Process of Institutionalisation of Entrepreneurial Parties: Czech ANO and the Public Affairs Party	43
Vít Hloušek and Lubomír Kopeček
5 Institutionalisation of New Political Parties in Argentina: The Case of Propuesta Republicana Party	69
Cristian Altavilla
6 De-Institutionalising Power of Decision-Making Personalisation: The Paradigmatic Case of the Serbian Communist-Successor Party	89
Ivan Vuković and Filip Milačić

7	Inverse Relationship between Party Institutionalisation and Party System Competitiveness: The Transformation of Postwar Japanese Party Politics Takayoshi Uekami and Hidenori Tsutsumi	111
8	The Uneven Institutionalisation of the Green Party in Poland Agnieszka Kwiatkowska	133
9	The Swedish Pirate Party: Towards Institutionalisation? Lars G. Svåsand	155
10	Institutionalisation of a Charismatic Movement Party: The Case of Croatian Democratic Union Goran Čular and Dario Nikić Čakar	171
11	The Institutionalisation of Parties and Coalitions in Romania: An Unfulfilled Process? Veronica Anghel	193
12	Party Institutionalisation in the Czech Republic Jakub Stauber	215
13	The Organisational Fabric between Citizens and the Government: Institutionalisation and Intermediary Organisations Frederik Heylen	239
	References	259
	Index	287
	About the Contributors	295