

The Italian Empire and the Great War

VANDA WILCOX

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Note on Translation and Transliteration	xi
List of Abbreviations	xiii
Maps	xv
1. Introduction	1
1.1 How Imperial Was Italy's War?	2
1.2 The Libyan Theatre?	3
1.3 History, Memory, and Historiography	7
1.4 War Beyond War: Italy 1911–23	13
2. Imperialism and Irredentism in Liberal Italy	18
2.1 Nationalism, Nation-building, and Completing Italy	18
2.2 Nineteenth-century Colonialism	20
2.3 The Growth of an Imperial Culture	22
2.4 Emigration and Imperialism	25
2.5 Mare Nostrum: Libya and the Mediterranean	30
2.6 The Balkans	39
3. From Neutrality to Intervention, 1914–15	41
3.1 The July Crisis	41
3.2 The Outbreak of War	43
3.3 Neutralists	48
3.4 Interventionists	50
3.5 The Treaty of London and Italy's Expansionist War Aims	51
4. Italians on the Battlefield	57
4.1 Military Mobilization	57
4.2 The Fighting Fronts, 1915–16	61
4.3 Military Service Among Emigrants	63
4.4 Colonial Troops	70
4.5 The Year of Crisis: 1917	75
4.6 From Disaster to Victory: 1918	77
5. Societies at War	79
5.1 Cultural Mobilization	79
5.2 Resistance, Repression, and Crisis at Home	85
5.3 The Greater Italy at War	88
5.4 Fundraising Overseas	90
5.5 Mobilizing the Italian Colonies for War	93

6. War in the Italian Colonies	99
6.1 The War Against Turkey	99
6.2 The Libyan Theatre of War	102
6.3 Ethiopia and the Stability of East Africa	117
6.4 From the Akrama Agreement to the End of the War	118
7. The War Beyond Italy: Expeditionary Forces and Expansionist Ambitions	121
7.1 The Balkans	122
7.2 Albania	123
7.3 The Macedonian Front	129
7.4 Imperial War Aims and Expanding Ambitions, 1916–17	132
7.5 Italy and the Global War	141
7.6 Planning for Peace	148
8. Race, Nationality, and Citizenship: The Meanings of Italianità in Wartime	151
8.1 Italianità	151
8.2 Race in Italy Before the First World War	153
8.3 Race and the Libyan War	155
8.4 Militarism and Race	157
8.5 A Racial War?	159
8.6 Race, Biopower, and the State	170
9. The Paris Peace Conference and Beyond	179
9.1 Demobilization and Domestic Politics	180
9.2 The Peace Conference Begins	182
9.3 Imperial and Colonial Settlements	192
9.4 Francesco Saverio Nitti and Italy's New Direction	199
10. Post-war Settlements in the Adriatic and the Balkans	200
10.1 The Myth of the Mutilated Victory	201
10.2 The Occupation of the Upper Adriatic	203
10.3 The Rapallo Treaty	210
10.4 Albania	211
11. Africa and the Eastern Mediterranean After the War	213
11.1 The Allied Occupation of Constantinople and the Eastern Mediterranean Force	213
11.2 The San Remo Declaration and the Treaty of Sèvres	222
11.3 The Italian Expeditionary Corps in Palestine	226
11.4 Italian Withdrawal from Asia Minor	228
11.5 The African Colonies	230
11.6 The Aftermath of War and Italy's Unfulfilled Desires	239
12. Conclusion	241
12.1 Rhetorics and Realities of Empire	241
Bibliography	245
Index	265