Means of Transportation and Registration of Nationality

Transportation Registered by International Organizations

Vincent P. Cogliati-Bantz
Means of Transportation and Registration of Nationality
Transportation Registered by International Organizations

Vincent P. Cogliati-Bantz
Contents

Acknowledgements xvii

Introduction 1

PART ONE
The nationality of means of transportation 5

1 Nationality as jurisdictional link 7
   1 Jurisdiction in international law 7
      1.1 Basic issues: subjects and objects of jurisdiction 7
      1.2 Nature of jurisdiction 9
      1.3 Bases of jurisdiction: phenomenology of jurisdiction 10
         1.3.1 Jurisdictional links and their creation: basic distinction 10
         1.3.2 Bases of jurisdiction 10
            1.3.2.1 Territorial principle and territorial jurisdiction 10
            1.3.2.2 Nationality principle and personal jurisdiction 11
            1.3.2.3 Organic principle 12
            1.3.2.4 Protective principle 13
            1.3.2.5 Universality principle 13
   2 Nationality of means of transportation as jurisdictional link 14
      2.1 Ships 14
         2.1.1 Definition 14
         2.1.2 Nationality of ships 16
         2.1.3 Jurisdictional nature of nationality 20
      2.2 Aircraft 22
         2.2.1 Definition 22
         2.2.2 Nationality of aircraft 24
         2.2.3 Jurisdictional nature of nationality 27
PART TWO
Registration by international organizations

3 Source of the right to register in the external legal order of international organizations

1 Scope of enquiry 85
2 Ships 86

2.1 Treaties 86
2.1.1 The Law of the Sea conventions 86
2.1.1.1 The work of the International Law Commission 86
2.1.1.2 The Convention on the High Seas: Article 7 89
2.1.1.3 The UNCLOS (1): Article 93 90
2.1.1.4 Analysis 91
2.1.1.5 The UNCLOS (2): Annex IX 94
2.1.2 Selected agreements similar to Annex IX 96
2.1.2.1 Conventions on pollution of the marine environment 96
2.1.2.2 Conventions on fisheries management 96
2.1.3 Convention on the Liability of Operators of Nuclear Ships 98
2.1.4 Conclusion 99
2.2 Custom 100
2.2.1 Instances of practice 100
2.2.1.1 Practice necessarily discounted 100
2.2.1.2 The flag of Jerusalem 100
2.2.1.3 The Korean trawlers 102
2.2.1.4 The Landing Craft Mechanized 103
2.2.1.5 Potential practice 103
2.2.1.5.1 Red Cross flotilla 103
2.2.1.5.2 Nuclear ships and UNESCO enquiries 105
2.2.2 Analysis 106
2.2.2.1 Value of practice 106
2.2.2.2 The problem of opinio juris 109
2.3 General principles of law 114
2.4 Conclusion 116

3 Aircraft 116
3.1 Treaties 116
3.1.1 The 1919 Convention 116
3.1.2 The Chicago Convention: Article 77 117
3.1.2.1 International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) determinations 117
3.1.2.2 Analysis 123
3.1.3 Other treaties 129
3.1.4 Conclusion 130
3.2 Custom 130
3.2.1 Practice 130
3.2.1.1 Enquiries by the ILC 130
3.2.1.2 Aircraft in Korea 131
3.2.1.3 Aircraft in the Congo 131
4 Source of the right to register in the internal order of international organizations

1 Scope of enquiry 155
2 International personality as a necessary condition 155
   2.1 Conferral of nationality 155
   2.2 Whether sovereignty is necessary for the conferral of nationality 155
      2.2.1 Arguments that only States may register means of transport 155

4.2 Value of practice and opinio juris 151
4.3 General principles of law 152
4.4 Conclusion 152

5 Motor vehicles: Reference to later enquiry 154

2.2.2 Non-sovereign States and nationality issues 157
2.2.3 International organizations and sovereign powers 158
2.2.4 Sovereignty insufficient 160
2.2.5 Conclusion 161

3 International personality as a sufficient condition? 166
3.1 Are there rights inherent in international personality? 167
3.2 Registration of means of transportation 170
3.3 Conclusion 170
4 Registration of means of transportation as a power of international organizations 171
4.1 Preliminary assessment: opinion of writers 171
   4.1.1 Writers who are in favour of the right to register 171
      4.1.1.1 Arguments based on accumulation of factors 171
      4.1.1.2 Specific arguments based on the powers of international organizations 171
      4.1.1.3 Specific arguments based on the international personality of international organizations 172
   4.1.2 Writers who are generally against the right to register 173
   4.1.3 Indeterminate proposals 173
4.2 Registration as expressed power 174
4.3 Registration as included power 175
4.4 Registration as implied power 176
   4.4.1 Implication from expressed powers 176
   4.4.2 Implication from purposes 177
   4.4.3 Implication from an external source 179
   4.4.4 The principles of speciality and functional necessity defined 180
      4.4.4.1 Purposes, functions, duties, powers 180
      4.4.4.2 Necessity 180
      4.4.4.3 Registration as a necessary power 183
      4.4.4.4 Voluntas organisans 185
4.5 Determination of functional necessity 190
4.5.1 Relations with Member States 190
4.5.2 Relations with third States 193
4.6 Categories and capacities of international organizations 197
5 The case of other subjects of international law 201
   5.1 General 201
   5.2 The Holy See 202
PART THREE
The legal regime of registration of means of transportation by international organizations

5 Preliminary study: internationalized means of transportation

1 Categories of jurisdictional links: necessary distinctions 213
2 Means of transportation not registered by the organization but performing a mission for it: internationalized means of transportation 213
2.1 Practice 214
2.1.1 The European Commission of the Danube 214
2.1.2 Humanitarian organizations 216
2.1.2.1 The Order of Malta 216
2.1.2.2 The Red Cross 217
2.1.2.3 The International Refugee Organization and the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration 219
2.1.3 The United Nations 220
2.1.3.1 UN organs 220
2.1.3.1.1 Peacekeeping 220
2.1.3.1.2 Other operations 223
2.1.3.1.3 Other uses 225
2.1.3.2 Specialized agencies 226
2.1.4 Other international organizations 227
2.1.4.1 European Union 227
2.1.4.2 NATO 229
2.1.4.3 Other cases 230
3 Internationalized objects: selected issues 230
3.1 Meaning of the sign 230
3.2 Law applicable 232
3.3 Immunities 233
3.4 Protection 239
3.5 International responsibility 239

6 Transportation registered by international organizations 245

1 Means of transportation registered 245
2 Registration and use on official service 247
2.1 Ownership by the organization 247
2.2 Transportation made available to the organization 248

3 International registration of transportation: selected questions 248
3.1 Creation of international registration 248
3.1.1 International registry 248
3.1.2 Indicators of international registration 250
3.2 Jurisdiction and control 251
3.2.1 General 251
3.2.2 Prescriptive jurisdiction 254
3.2.2.1 Necessary regulations 254
3.2.2.1.1 Adoption of rules by the organization 255
3.2.2.1.2 Designation of State rules by the organization 257
3.2.2.2 Adoption of optional rules by the organization 259
3.2.3 Enforcement jurisdiction 260
3.2.3.1 The organization establishes its own courts 261
3.2.3.2 The organization designates national courts 261
3.2.3.3 Enforcement mechanisms and personnel 262
3.2.4 Special issues 263
3.2.4.1 Protection of the means of transportation 263
3.2.4.2 Immunities 265
3.2.4.3 International responsibility 265

Conclusion 269

Bibliography 276

Index 283