Types of Legal Structures	Definition
Sole Proprietorship	Business entity that is owned and run by one person and in which there is no legal distinction between the owner and the business. The owner is in direct control of all elements and is legally accountable.
Subsidiary of Public Traded Company	A company that is owned or controlled by another company that is publically traded.
Publically Traded Company	A corporation whose ownership is dispersed among the general public in many shares of stock which are freely traded on a stock exchange or in over the counter markets.
Government Agency	A permanent or semi-permanent organization in the government that is responsible for the oversight and administration of specific functions.
Partnership	An arrangement where parties, known as partners, agree to cooperate to advance their mutual interests. The partners in a partnership may be individuals, businesses, interest-based organizations, schools, governments or combinations thereof.
Privately Held Corporation	A company owned either by non-governmental organizations or by a relatively small number of shareholders or company members which does not offer or trade its company stock (shares) to the general public on the stock market exchanges.
Joint Venture	A 50/50 partnership between two companies creating a separately incorporated business. Joint ventures are not linked because neither partner in the business has greater than 50% ownership.
