

Copyright policy

1. Copyright

Every issue of România Orientale and every article published therein, with the respective illustrations, is protected by copyright. Any re-use of the material published in România Orientale requires the prior consent of Sapienza Università Editrice (see below for terms and conditions).

2. Author's costs

There are no costs to the author.

3. Author's and publisher's rights

Upon acceptance of the publication by the editorial staff after a double-blind peer review process, every author of each article published in România Orientale must sign a "Declaration of Authorisation to Publish". Failure to return the letter affects the publication of the article.

4. Rights of secondary publication and self-archiving

The author undertakes to respect the following points regarding the translation, dissemination or publication of his/her article in any other context (whether print or online):

Publisher's version (the article in the final version, formatted with the journal header and page numbers) and Editorial or post-print version (the article as approved by the reviewers and editors but before being formatted according to the journal standards): an embargo of 18 months. During the embargo, the author may however, for institutional purposes, publish the article in the institutional archive/repository of the University or in any of the author's affiliated institution, in a closed access format.

Original or pre-print version (the article as submitted to the reviewers and editors in its original form): no embargo.

S/he is aware that any form of self-archiving or republication must mention the © Dipartimento di Studi Europei, Americani e Interculturali, "Sapienza" Università di Roma – Sapienza Università Editrice and be accompanied by the words: "The final version of the article is available in România Orientale, nr., year".
