I conducted a 6-month visiting period at the Pontificia Universidad Catolica de Chile, under the supervision of Professor Paula Luengo Kanacri.

During this time, I collaborated on a longitudinal research project related to the intervention program ProCivico, aimed at promoting social cohesion in schools.

Additionally, I worked on two studies related to the cross-cultural research project IPYDAC, focusing on studying ethnic identity and psychological adaptation in Chilean and Colombian adolescents.

The latter was carried out in collaboration with Professor Adriana UmañaTaylor from the Harvard School of Education in the United States.
