CURRENT POSITIONS

2019-present Full Professor of Law and Development
School of Law, the University of Nottingham

I teach and convene modules on procurement law, law and development and development procurement at the undergraduate, postgraduate, and executive levels. I was part of the team that designed the pioneering executive LLM in public procurement law and policy praised by the European Commission as an example of excellence (EU Commission SWD(2017) 327 final). Within the School I lead on several tasks. Most notably, I was the first Chair of the School's Equality, Diversity, and Inclusion Committee (2015-2020). Under my leadership the school obtained its first Athena Swan Award (September 2019). At the university level, from 2018-2021 I led the Interdisciplinary Research Cluster: Rights, Justice and Global Challenges an interdisciplinary network of researchers.

I have been the Principal or Co-Investigator on competitive research grants totaling over 2.1 million £, receiving prestigious research funding by UKRI funding bodies such as AHRC (Twice), British Academy and BA-Leverhulme Thrust (Three times) and Participant in the EU funded project UK-Asia link.
