

Valentina Morretta

I have extensive experience in research and analysis in socioeconomic disciplines, including the evaluation of the socioeconomic impact of innovation policies and tools for local and regional development. I have worked in the private and no-profit sectors and academia in different countries, including Ireland, Italy, Kosovo and the UK. My main interests focus on policy evaluation, space economy, cost-benefit analysis of research infrastructures, local development. I can deal with project cycle management (from design to implementation and reporting) and use both quantitative and qualitative research methods. I have excellent analytical, writing, communication and interpersonal skills. I am a strong and reliable team player and I love working in a dynamic and multicultural environment.
