EDUCATION AND TRAINING

PhD in Social and Developmental Psychology and Educational Research

Sapienza, University of Rome - Faculty of Medicine and Psychology [01/11/2020 – Current]

Address: Via dei Marsi 78 , 00185 Rome (Italy)

Thesis: Biospheric values as determinants of pro-environmental behaviour: aetiological factors and intergenerational transmission

My research activity focuses on the study of individual-environment interactions, both in terms of how physical and social characteristics influence behavioural, cognitive and affective processes, and how humans tend to modify the environment through urbanisation processes and architectural design. My interests include environmental risk factors for human health.
